Housing Statistics of the United States

by Patrick Simmons

The United States Housing Authority, or USHA, was a federal agency created during 1937 within the United States Department of the Interior by the Housing Act.